ALL READY FOR MUMMERS' PARADE

Route of Thursday Night's Parade together with Formation of Column is Announced. Marshal and his Aides.

Many of the young people of town are getting ready for the first big mummies' parade which Gettysburg has had for many years and which will move promptly at 7:30 o'clock on Thursday evening. The Citizens' Band and the College Band have both been secured to take part in the parade which promises to be very successful.

Allen B. Plank has had inquiries from county towns who want to send delegations to join the column and they have been given an earnest invitation to participate in the festivities. The college boys have also been invited and, it is said, will turn out in large numbers.

The parade will form as follows: chief marshal, William McG. Tawney; trumpeter, Oliver McPherson; aides, Maurice Stansbury, Ralph Wierman, Joseph Smith, Bernard Hoffman, Lawrence Oyer, George Taylor.

First Division: marshal, Clifford Bream; Citizens Band, all school children, ladies, town participants.

Second Division: marshal, C. F. Bailey, College Band, Students of Gettysburg College, people of surrounding county, teams and horse back riders.

The first division will form on Chambersburg street with their right on Centre Square. The second division will form on York street with right on Centre Square. All persons will report to the Chief Marshal not later than 7:15 at Centre Square.

The parade will move promptly at 7:30 south on Baltimore street to Breckenridge, west to Washington, north to West Middle, west to Franklin, north to Chambersburg, east to Centre Square, out Carlisle north to Water, east to Stratton, south to East Middle, west to Baltimore, north to York, east to Liberty, countermarching west to Centre Square where a fantastic drill will be given after which the parade will be dismissed.

At 7 o'clock Thursday evening in front of the Gas Company office on Baltimore street there will be a lot of lanterns given away to those taking part in the parade. The parade will also be reviewed by the judges at the Gas Company office where several large are lights will be erected. A prize of $5 will be given for the best costumed man or boy; and a gas portable reading lamp for the best costumed woman or girl.

In order that the people of town may know the movements of the parade the power house whistle will blow two long blasts for the formation of the parade and three when it starts to move.

The old time flour throwing and paddling will not be tolerated on Hallow'en this year and, with the mummies' parade, the night is expected to be far more enjoyable than any similar occasion for years past.

In many of the homes of town there will be parties this week in which the hobgoblins, fairies and witches will play their part. Pumpkin lanterns, corn fodder and autumn leaves will be conspicuous in the decorations and the games peculiar to the Hallow'en season will again hold sway.

Many larger functions are also planned and dances, card parties and other social events will occupy the evenings of the people of Gettysburg during the week. All festivities will cease during the hour of the parade, however, and all will either join in the spectacle or be in the crowds which are sure to turn out to witness the demonstration.

FAILED TO SEND SON TO SCHOOL

John C. Steinour of Breckenridge Street Has to Pay Fine and Costs Amounting to $9.10 for Violation of School Law.

John C. Steinour, of Breckenridge street, was given a hearing before Squire Hill this morning, charged with failing to send his fifteen year old son to school as required by the Act of Assembly of 1911. The information was laid by Trust Officer Utz at the direction of the School Board. Mr. Steinour paid a fine of $1.00 and costs of $8.10.

Mr. Steinour claimed in defense that he had asked Prof. Burgoon for an employment certificate which would allow the boy to remain out of school. The only record Mr. Burgoon had of the son's age was the assessors' list and the age as given there would not allow him under the law to issue such permission. Prof. Burgoon, however, told Mr. Steinour that if he would produce the family Bible or other similar record, showing that his contention was correct, the certificate would be given.

It is said that the father failed to do this and as a result the information was laid when the son's absence from school continued.

TOO COLD UP NORTH

Contractor John J. Dohbling, who is reconstructing the road from New Oxford to Gettysburg, reports two miles of the road completed, to a short distance east of Brush Run station. About an eighth of a mile more has been macadamized and the two small hills on the "Heltzel farm" are being leveled with an engine and iron plow. All the concrete bridges between New Oxford and Gettysburg have been finished.

About 75 men are employed. Nearly all these men eat and sleep in five tents erected on the hill west of Swift Run bridge, in Strasburg township. About 15 or 20 colored men, who are working for the contractor, contemplate returning to their Southern homes on account of the cold weather.

Seventy five per cent of the main State highways or approximately 6,000 miles, have been repaired by the State Highway Department since the first of June when the Commonwealth took over the 296 routes covered by the Sprout highway law of 1911. The repairs will be pushed until the weather halts outdoor work, and it is hoped to have the most traveled routes put into fair condition for the winter.

DISASTROUS FIRE

On Saturday evening about 8 o'clock the large hank barn on the former Vincent Lawrence farm, near Irish town, at present owned by Emanuel King, was destroyed by fire, together with about 300 bushels of corn, a large lot of hay, straw, and farming implements. Three hogs also perished in the flames, and one horse was badly burned. The remainder of the live stock was saved. The loss is estimated at $2,500, on which there was an insurance of $600.

The supposition is that the fire was of incendiary origin. Mr. King was so overcome by his misfortune that he required the services of Dr. J. L. Sheetz, of New Oxford.

LAFEAN DENIES UGLY CHARGES

Accused of Getting Money from Contracts for Gettysburg, Hanover and York Public Buildings. Malicious Lie he Says.

Congressman D. F. Lafean on Monday issued an emphatic denial of false reports being circulated in this district against him in which he is charged with having profited in the letting of contracts for federal buildings in this district. Mr. Lafean's denial, which is sweeping in character, follows:

"To Whom it May Concern:—My attention has just been called to certain malicious reports, false in every particular, which are being circulated by my political enemies in York and Adams counties, to the effect that I have been profiting by receiving commissions in the letting of contracts for the federal buildings at York, Hanover and Gettysburg. With all the emphasis at my command, I brand all such reports as malicious falsehoods and those who are guilty of their circulation as contemptible liars who should be feared and shunned more than a leper. I challenge any person in the 20th district or any other district to show wherein I have benefited to the extent of a single penny in respect to the federal buildings' contracts.

"Least this despicable attempt upon me as a man and upon my character and reputation in my community should influence a single voter in the 20th district, I take this method of offering a standing reward of five hundred ($500) dollars to any one who will prove who are guilty of originating this vile charge in order that I may proceed against them to the fullest extent of the law. (Signed) D. F. Lafean."

DEMONSTRATIONS ON FARMS

The next legislature will be asked by the State Department of Agriculture to make provision for payment of field workers to demonstrate new methods in agriculture, horticulture and their allied branches, the idea being to have men who will supplement the instruction given to farmers at the farmers' institutes which are held throughout the winter. The plan is to have the demonstrations distinct from those which have been given so successfully to show how to control fruit tree pests and prune fruit trees.

The idea of having these demonstrations is endorsed by A. L. Martin, Deputy Secretary of Agriculture, who is director of farmers' institutes. He says that yearly requests for men to show by work in the field or the barn how to carry out the suggestions given in institute lectures are made of the department and that only officials, who have other duties, are available to answer them. It is estimated that $20,000 a year would be required and that beneficial results in the way of improved crops would result.

WIRELESS FROM A BICYCLE

Interesting Experiments Conducted by Young Massachusetts Inventor—Make-up of Apparatus.

While others have been experimenting with wireless telegraph apparatus adapted for use on aeroplanes and automobiles, Mr. I. Wolf, a young inventor living in Cambridge, Mass., has been endeavoring to develop a system that can be used successfully on a bicycle. He has succeeded in maintaining communication between his own wheel and that of an associate three and one-quarter miles away. This communication was obtained without a ground, for the rubber tires insulated the apparatus completely from the earth. For an aerial, he uses three double strands of phosphor bronze wire, each 13.5 feet long, joined in one loop at the top of a ten-foot mast, which is tied to the back of the bicycle. The sending apparatus comprises an induction coil giving a three-inch spark, a series of Leyden jar condensers connected in multiple, a battery secured under the instrument board, and a sending key. The receiving set comprises a tuning coil of variable inductance, a silicon detector, and a receiver wound to 3,000 ohms resistance. For the aerial, a three-wire single strand of phosphor bronze is used. Experiments with this apparatus were conducted at night in order to avoid too much publicity. The greatest distance was obtained at the hour of 3 a. m. The assistant with the sending instrument rode ahead, sending messages as he went, while the receiver managed to keep in constant touch with him.

VICE PRESIDENT STEADILY FAILS

Doctor Says Mr. Sherman is Seriously Ill.

FAMILY AT HIS BEDSIDE

He Rallies Under Strong Medicines. No Immediate Danger of Death, Physician Reports.

While his physician, Dr. Fayette H. Peck, believes there is no immediate danger of death, the distinguished patient's condition is such that it is a matter of conjecture how much longer he can withstand the ravages of the disease with which he is afflicted.

Dr. Peck authorized this statement regarding Mr. Sherman's illness and his present condition:

"Mr. Sherman has been sick all of this year, due to the condition of the kidneys, hardening of the arteries and softening of the muscles of the heart, which is somewhat stretched. Mr. Sherman had an attack in the Adirondacks, at Big Moose, to be exact, in June, and I expected him to die. He got out of Big Moose safely and improved steadily and very satisfactorily until the latter part of August. Since then his condition has been aggravated and he has been steadily failing."

"For the last three weeks, since he came back from Connecticut, where he went to rest, he has been dressed only once, and that was a week ago Friday, when against my protest he went out to the polls to register."

"Mr. Sherman is now in the condition which that sort of trouble leads to and is very seriously ill, but there is, I believe, no immediate danger of death."

After a day of discouraging symptoms Mr. Sherman rallied and continued to show improvement. This is due in no small measure to powerful medicines. Whether or not he can much longer successfully combat the attack of kidney trouble and complications is a matter of grave doubt.

The members of his family are with him constantly, and his intimate friends have been notified that he has been failing steadily.

Close friends of Mr. Sherman admit that his condition is very serious and that he has had sinking spells at times during the summer.

The vice president is suffering from a complication of ailments which have induced weakness in heart action, and he experiences great difficulty in his breathing. He has been ill since last spring, but was believed to be recovering. A week ago he insisted on going to the polls to register, although he had been warned by Dr. Peck that such action might be dangerous. Upon his return he was forced to go to bed, and the doctor was hurriedly called. On Saturday the members of the family were greatly alarmed, but the sudden relapse seemed to give way to treatment.

The extended rest which the vice president had been directed to take has failed to bring about any improvement in his condition. His strength has gradually weakened since some four months ago, when his heart began to trouble him. An examination at that time showed that he was suffering from myocarditis, an affection of the muscles of the heart.

GIRL GAGGED AND ROBBED IN MID-DAY

Thieves Got $1000 From Life Insurance Office.

New York, Oct. 29. — Three hold-up men, without the aid of a gun or a mask, walked into the branch office of the Prudential Life Insurance company at 245 Flatbush avenue, Brooklyn, at two o'clock in the afternoon, and after blinding and gagging the one girl employee, Miss Alice Brenner, the cashier, who was there at that time, took $1000 from the safe and disappeared.

The robbery took place a block from a police station in the most heavily policed precinct in Brooklyn and within a few blocks of the home of Mayor Gaynor.

The hold-up men planned well. They came on a day when Superintendent W. A. Alexander was away, and at an hour when the second girl employee was out at luncheon. Miss Brenner was alone in the small glass enclosure which serves the double purpose of a private office and cashier's cage.

Two of the men represented themselves as telephone men, who had come to test the telephone, and were readily admitted to the enclosure by Miss Brenner. The two men grabbed the young woman as soon as the door swung open to admit them. One held her in a firm grip, while the other applied a gag, using a handkerchief saturated with chloroform. She was then tied to a radiator in the corner of the room.

The two men then proceeded to go through the various compartments of the safe. The third man remained at the outer door, where he could look up and down the streets and give an alarm if any one gave the appearance of heading for the insurance office.

After going through the safe and taking away the contents of the two safety deposit boxes, which held the collections for the day, believed to be more than $1000, the two men left. The lookout remained and kept watch over the girl for several minutes.

Then Mrs. Morley, of Bath Beach, who had come to pay her insurance, entered the front door. She screamed when she saw the girl's position.

ADRIANOPE IS SURROUNDED

Bulgars Isolate Fortress From Its Base.

MAY MARCH ON CAPITAL

Servian Army Takes Uskup and Follows Turkish Troops South—Greeks Capture Another Town.

London, Oct. 29.—Since the capture of the town of Eski-Baba by the Bulgarian troops very little news has been received from that region, where the future of Turkey in Europe may be decided within a few days.

A short message from Sofia, however, says that the Bulgarians have seized a Turkish military train on the way from Constantinople to Adrianople. This indicates that the Bulgarian invaders have cut the railroad, isolating Adrianople from its base, accomplishing one of the greatest strokes of the campaign, getting into position to march on Constantinople.

The Bulgarians have been pushing forward, according to the latest Bulgarian reports, from the eastern side in the hope of entirely destroying the Turkish army defeated at Kirk-Kiliseh.

At the same time the Bulgarian armies are carrying out a wide, sweeping movement reaching almost to the shores of the Black Sea, and still other Bulgarian columns are completing the circle around Adrianople. How far these combined movements have been successful the outside world is not informed, but the Bulgarians assert that the fate of Adrianople is practically sealed.

The bridge across the Tchorlu river was blown up by the Bulgarians, thus interrupting communication between Lule Burgas and Constantinople, according to a dispatch from the correspondent of the Vienna Reichspost with the headquarters of the Second Bulgarian army.

In view of the big events in the eastern region of the theater of war the achievements of the Servian army have been somewhat lost sight of. The Servians, from whom Europe did not expect much, are now in possession of virtually the whole of Old Servia and, in conjunction with the Montenegrins, hold the best part of the district of Novibazar.

The Servian columns have obtained possession of the Turkish railroad from Mitrovitz, its northern terminus, down to Uskup, and they are following the defeated Turkish army to Veloz, farther to the south. The Bulgarian column co-operating with the Servian army in the western part of the peninsula has occupied Istib, called the "Adrianopolis of Macedonia," and now threaten to cut off the retreat of the Turks to the south.

It is asserted at Belgrade that the Turkish troops evacuated Uskup in such haste that they killed one another in fighting for places in wagons and railroad cars. The Servians captured ninety-eight field guns and fifteen howitzers, with a lot of railroad rolling stock. The Servian army pursued the Turks and overtook them on the plain beyond the city.

The Serbs inflicted another defeat on the Turkish forces at Verisovitz, where the Arnaut tribesmen lost fifteen guns and 4000 rifles, while 1000 of them were captured. The Servian loss was twenty-five killed and six wounded. The Servian troops continued their march along the railway.

The Greek army, too, is making steady headway. Its capture of Pentepedia is considered of the utmost importance, for with Pentepedia in Greek hands, the whole country to the north is accessible to the Greek army and the way is left open to Janina, the Turkish base in the far western region.

The Greek plan is clearly to effect a junction of the Greek armies and then march on Saloniki. The Greek crown prince's army is now within striking distance of that fortress. In the first place, of course, the Greeks must sever communication between Monastir and Saloniki, and they might send a force against the former place.

A dispatch from the Bulgarian army headquarters at Stara Zagora says that after a long bombardment of the Turkish fort at Kirkili, in which 2000 Turks were killed, Bulgarians stormed the works and raised the Bulgarian flag. The railroad depot at Kirkili was burned. This placed the Bulgarians in possession of another important point on the Orient railway, south of Adrianople.

ROOSEVELT TAKES A WALK

Improving More Slowly Than Physicians Had Hoped.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Colonel Roosevelt is stronger, but his wound is still open, and he is not gaining strength as rapidly as his physicians had hoped he would.

For the second time since his return he took a short walk, but was obliged to move about slowly. His right side is still sore from his wound. The colonel went to the stable and saw Sirdar, his favorite riding horse. For the first time since he was shot, Sirdar neighed in recognition of his master, who fed him lumps of sugar. Pating the horse, the colonel exclaimed: "We'll be riding in a few days, Sirdar."

The colonel insists that he is strong enough to ride, but the doctors are persuading him to wait another week.

COUPLE DIVORCED 18 YEARS WILL REMARRY

Old Love Was Rekindled When They Met.

Catawissa, Pa., Oct. 29.—Divorced eighteen years ago, Lawrence Hetherman, chief hostler in the Reading railway roundhouse here, has announced that he and his former wife, Mrs. Lillian Hetherman, would wed again.

Hetherman refused to say where the marriage will take place, but he already has the license and it is of record in the county clerk's office.

In February, 1894, a divorce was granted, and both went to different parts of the west. A few years ago the man returned to Catawissa and recently the former wife returned to the old home for a visit, and they met again.

The flame which had been thought dead was rekindled at the sight of each other. Both are nearly fifty years old, and they have grown-up children.

NOT GUILTY SAYS MACFARLAND

Man Freed of Murder Held as Counterfeiter.

$5000 BAIL DEMANDED

Denies Criminal Intent in Making One-Sided Half Dollars With Tinfoil and Wax.

New York, Oct. 29.—Protesting his innocence and declaring that a job had been put upon him, Allison MacFarland, formerly of Philadelphia, who was acquitted on Oct. 18 at Newark, N. J., of the murder of his wife by poison, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields, charged with counterfeiting.

MacFarland made a formal plea of not guilty and was held in $5000 bail for examination.

MacFarland was arrested at 100 West One Hundred and Sixth street, where he was known as Allison Mason. Secret service men, who raided his rooms there, say they found four partly made silver coins and a hand press for taking impressions from good ones.

"I am absolutely innocent," MacFarland said. "This whole thing has been 'cooked up' over in Newark. They are out to 'get me' and they don't care how far they go."

MacFarland denied any criminal intent in making one-sided half-dollars. He said he was merely experimenting. He admitted that he had made wax impressions of coins while he was in jail in New Jersey with no attempt at concealment. This led to suspicions, and he has been watched ever since he was let out of jail at Newark.

After MacFarland was acquitted he went to live at 100 West One Hundred and Sixth street under the name of Allison Mason. Secret service men watched him, and after some purchases they say he made recently of silver foil and solder and other articles which might be used in counterfeiting, they decided to call on him at his rooms and look over the work which required such material.

Callahan and Schroeder, two secret service men, dropped in on MacFarland and found in his rooms moulds of 50-cent pieces and in coins, some of which had been completed on one side. He had not tried to pass any of the counterfeit.

They were not particularly good counterfeiters, but MacFarland told the detectives that his work of copying silver pieces was still in the experimental stage. He had at first tried making plaster casts of the coins and then filling them with a composition. Then he covered the result with silver foil, which didn't look very even and didn't stick well.

He next went back to his original idea of making moulds of the silver foil and filling them with the composition, which produced a better likeness to the coin.

It was this style of imitation which was found in his room.

As he had not made a complete coin or attempted to circulate bad money secret service officials say he cannot be charged with counterfeiting. It is a crime under the federal statutes to have moulds which may be used for counterfeiting, and the secret service officials believe that they will have no difficulty in obtaining a conviction on this charge.

MacFarland lived alone at the One Hundred and Sixth street house, and so far as the detectives could learn he has not yet married "Bunny" Bromley, whose letters to him were read in the murder trial. Several letters from "Bunny" were found in his pockets when he was arrested and led to his identification. Miss Bromley is still in Philadelphia, the detectives believe.

PIG AMUCK IN PENN. AVENUE

Escapes From Farmer's Wagon and Goes Sightseeing.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Pennsylvania avenue, the busiest of the national capital's main thoroughfares, was thrown into all sorts of excitement when an exceedingly frisky and perverse pig escaped from a wagon directly in front of the New Willard hotel.

The pig took a flying leap from the wagon and headed down the avenue. At least a hundred persons joined in pursuit. Hundreds more gathered to see what was the matter. His pigship was finally cornered in a cellar.

Big Decisions Delayed.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Contrary to general expectations there were no important opinions handed down in the United States supreme court. The opinion of the court in the anthracite coal cases, under the Sherman law, argued more than a year ago, was expected. It is probable now that the three important cases mentioned may go over until after election.

Canoeists Shoot Dam Falls.

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—Two canoeists went over the Wissahickon dam in safety. They drifted through a groove twelve feet wide on the breast of the dam, landing in the creek fifteen feet below and swimming out. They were R. J. Davies and J. W. Ingham. Mr. Ingham performed the same feat on Labor Day.

HARDWARE IN HIS STOMACH

Diet of Nails, Knives, Keys and Iron Didn't Agree With Human Ostrich. Pittsfield, Mass., Oct. 29.—A diet of nails, jackknives, keys, buttonhooks and iron has disagreed with Luke Parsons, the human ostrich.

When he applied for admission to the House of Mercy hospital he said his trouble was indigestion, but an examination revealed a puncture of the abdomen by a sharp nail, which caused peritonitis.

When the surgeons operated they found a small hardware collection in the man's stomach. The collection consisted of 132 nails, ranging from a shingle nail to a three-inch spike; two keys, a buttonhook and a piece of iron. Some of the nails showed signs of partial digestion, indicating the strength of the digestive organs of the human ostrich.

WILSON STILL THE FAVORITE

Candidate at 4 to 1 Odds Finds No Takers.

New York, Oct. 29.—Betting on the presidential situation in Wall street is still very light, with an overwhelming sentiment in favor of Wilson.

The odds still remain: Wilson, 4 to 1; Taft, 1 to 3; Roosevelt, 1 to 2½. The odds on the colonel have shortened somewhat. A bet of $1000 to $400 that Wilson would be elected found no takers, and it is a case of even money on Taft or Roosevelt winning the popular vote.

GENERAL DIAZ REFUSED PARDON

President Madero, of Mexico, Won't Interfere.

Mexico City, Mex., Oct. 29.—President Madero has refused to pardon General Felix Diaz, the insurgent leader, who was captured by General Beltram's federals at Vera Cruz and sentenced to death by court martial.

Although a court order was issued against the execution of Diaz, his fate was unknown. His friends said that in view of the conditions prevailing the federals at Vera Cruz had disregarded the order of the civil court staying the death sentence and had shot Diaz to death along with other insurgents captured there.

Madero is said to have expressed regret that he pardoned General Bernardino Reyes, who was convicted of taking up arms against the government. Reyes is now in prison and may be arraigned again at any time. Madero asserts that he has knowledge that he is plotting with followers of Diaz for another outbreak.

Details of a clash between Captain Hughes, commander of the United States cruiser Des Moines, and Admiral Azulate, of the fleet of Mexican gunboats, in the Vera Cruz harbor while the fighting was going on last week, reached the capital. When Captain Hughes saw that fighting was inevitable he sent word to the Mexican admiral that he must respect the neutrality zone.

"If you fire a shot into the city that injures a foreigner or a foreign property, or if you shoot into a foreign ship in this harbor, I will sink you fleet," was the warning sent by the American.

"What if I should sink the Des Moines?" was the message sent back by Azulate. "That is up to a better man," responded Hughes.

The Mexican gunboats did not fire a shot. During the fighting in Vera Cruz the Des Moines occupied a position between the Mexican fleet and the shore, with her twenty-two guns trained on the Mexican gunboats.

"First White Child" Dead.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 29.—Eustace Roussain, Duluth's "first white child," is dead, aged seventy-three years. He lived at Fond Du Lac, near here, all his life. He taught the Indians to read and write, and long was known as a sportsman's guide and friend, interceding between the white hunters and the Indians in hostile days.

Painter Plunges to Death.

Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 29.—Losing his grip on a scaffold on which he was working, John Shisler, a painter, plunged headfirst to the pavement. He landed with such force that he died instantly.

Most Farmers

Do not object to their neighbors and friends hunting on their land or to any others who have due regard for their property, but all farmers do object to the hunter who tramples down grain, tears down fences and does damage. The surest way to protect yourself is to placard your property. Cardboard trespass signs 5c. each, 6 for 25c.; muslin signs 10c. each, 3 for 25c. And in order to keep undesirable hunters from coming out to your land and possibly disregard such signs, the best thing you could do would be to place your name in our trespass list. Fifty cents for the entire season. See last page.

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR BIG JEFF TESREAU

Jeff Tesreau of New York Giants.

Of all the pitchers who broke into the major leagues this season Jeff Tesreau of the Giants looks the most promising. His no-hit game against the Phils recently stamps him as a man possessing the goods.

Tessey has the gigantic build and the strength of a mighty twirler. Like Ed Walsh he is ideally constructed for a spit-ball hurler. Unlike Walsh, he came into his own the first year—it took Walsh about two seasons before he really got going.

During the early part of the season Tesreau was a delight and a despair to McGraw. "He seems to have everything a pitcher should have, yet he doesn't seem to be coming across," the Giant boss is reported as saying. But today Tessey is McGraw's chief reliance.

Like other wise managers, this McGraw can spot budding talent and is patient during its development. Look how he waited two years while Rube Marquard was getting back into his stride. He was willing to wait that long or longer for Tesreau, but this is one time he didn't have to hang around.

Some day Tesreau probably will be called the "King of Pitchers," a proud title held the last ten years by Messrs. Mathewson, Brown, Walsh, Johnson and Wood in the order named. The kings of former days are fewer—because they stretched over a longer period of time. Look 'em over—Radbourne, Spalding, Clarkson and Rusie. Perhaps we have missed a dozen or so, but no harm is done in the telling.

HOW JENNINGS GOT STARTED

Leader of Detroit Tigers Worked His Way From Pennsylvania Coal Mine to Bar.

Hughey Jennings came out of a coal mine without much education or much of anything else. He saw in baseball a chance for something better and he worked both on and off the field to improve himself and his people.

After he got through playing ball because his arm wore out he coached Cornell, studying law at the same time, and eventually graduated. When he is not leading his team and tearing up grass on the base-lines he is the head of the firm of Jennings & Jennings, attorneys at Scranton, Pa., near where he crawled out of an anthracite mine to become leader of two great baseball clubs.

He is quite a skillful lawyer—and they say when he sticks up one leg, doubles his fists and yells "e-yah" at a jury the opposing attorney quits.

Hard Hitting Pitcher.

Bill McCorty pitcher, made two hits, one a double, the other a single, in one inning, when sent in as pinch hitter for the San Francisco team recently.

Pitcher Kellogg Killed.

Albert Kellogg, former schoolboy pitcher, who had a tryout with the Pirates this spring, was shot and killed by a cowboy in Montana recently. He was once with Providence.

A pile of coal ashes and salt will keep the hogs close to any spot where it lies.

Sheep are almost essential in maintaining the fertility and cleanliness of the land.

Selling all the hay and grain raised on the farm is a sure method of selling the farm.

NOTES of the DIAMOND

Boston fans now want to buy Jake Stahl an auto.

Gonzales, the Cuban, who has been signed by the Boston Nationals, can't speak English.

Herzog of the Giants is going to attend the agricultural school at Cornell this winter.

Cleveland has bought the Waterbury club of the Connecticut league and will use it for farming purposes.

Harry Wolter does not look for any trouble with his bad leg next year as the result of his injury this season.

Mike Mowrey of the St. Louis Nationals is sure to be traded before spring if Roger Bresnahan has his way.

The applause that greeted George Stovall every time he appeared on the Naps' field this summer broke Davis' heart.

Ban Johnson is after George Hildebrand from the Pacific Coast league to join the American league staff next season.

The Giants have seven batters batting better than .300, while the Red Sox have but four. Tres Speaker leads them all with .391.

The Highlanders' new third baseman, Del Paddock, is a natural left-handed batter, but switches when hitting against a southpaw.

Experts who sized up Pitcher Schweg, the Nebraska Indian whom Clark Griffith sent to Atlanta, declared that he had nothing but a wind-up.

Fleider Jones is reported to have ruled the Northwestern league with an iron hand the past summer and will have a fight on his hands to be re-elected this fall.

Clark Griffith is not regarded as a hard luck leader any more. He has taken his place as one of the real brainy managers because of his great showing this year.

Ewes that are broad and long will make good mothers and produce vigorous offspring.

Creamery butter has an advantage over all the other kinds because of its greater uniformity.

The value of corn silage to the beef producer is not limited to its use in winter feeding alone.

To secure a good brood sow, an even development is required from pig brood to maturity.

ANAEMIC PEOPLE

Need More Iron in the Blood.
If you are anaemic you need more iron in your blood and the tell-tale symptoms are a pale face—colorless lips, a-ben finger nails, poor circulation and short breath and more serious diseases are easily contracted when in this condition.

What Vinol did for Mrs. G. S. Marcel of San Antonio, Texas, it will do for every anaemic, run down person. She says "I was weak and nervous and had general debility for about three years. My health was badly run down and my complexion became sallow and badly affected with pimples. While in this weakened condition I contracted pleurisy which made it very hard for me. I am happy to say that Vinol has restored me to health again and I have no cough or soreness of the lungs at all."

We ask every anaemic or run down weak person in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim. People's Drug Store Gettysburg, Pa.
